

Fazıl Baştürk was born in 1978 in Istanbul. He completed his bachelors (B.Sc.) degree in civil engineering in Istanbul University. Upon his completion, he earned his M.Sc. degree firstly in Yıldız Technical University (soil mechanics) then at University of Stuttgart on process engineering.

Previous to his current position at Rast Engineering since 2005, he took post in various firms as a site engineer and project assistant at University of Stuttgart.

Rast Engineering is a firm that offers services based on environment, infrastructure and energy ever since 1994. Fazıl Basturk has partaken in various national and international projects (Germany, Turkmenistan, Azerbaijan and Djibouti) as project engineer, project manager and coordinator of Rast Engineering respectively. Moreover, Mr. Baştürk has actively taken part in projects that have been financially supported by World Bank, EU and KfW.

Mr. Basturk is currently the partner and manager of Rast Engineering. He is married and a father of three children.

---